Role assumed in the affair LÉGERET

PELLET was instrumentalized by the Attorney General Eric COTTIER for condemning François LÉGERET to lifelong imprisonment, based exclusively on his inner conviction. This played out to him, since he was promoted a few months later to the position as a cantonal «Judge». He had demonstrated to the Attorney General of Vaud «to be in the mould».

Nevertheless, the author has the idea that PELLET really believed François LÉGERET to be guilty, having thus acted with a lack of intelligence.

However, to have been promoted at the costs of the most eminent judiciary victim of the Vaudois is not really very honourable.

On October 5, 2010 the author has confronted PELLET with the accusation that the Vaudois authorities had applied the illegal practice of the double filing on the back of François LÉGERET. PELLET denied vigorously. It is possible that the investigating «Judge» CHATTON and his crew are the only responsible clerks for this kind of cheating.

After having received the book of Jacques SECRETAN (L'affaire Légeret – Un assassin imaginaire. Editions Mon Village, 2016) by registered mail, dated June 17, 2016, and being contacted by phone one month later, PELLET was not willing to make amend. ## Profile

Born in 1963 (?).

Started his career at the Prosecutor's Office VD, and then was promoted President of the district court of the eastern part of Vaud in Vevey. In spring 2010, he was candidate as a cantonal «Judge» by the AdC party and was elected by the Grand Conseil VD as easily as a letter slips into a mailbox.

Double judicial crime:

In June 2008, he presided over the first trial on clues in the LÉGERET case and sentenced François LÉGERET to life for an alleged triple murder.

On November 28/29, 2012, PELLET chaired the Criminal Cassation Division of the Vaudois cantonal court which broke Laurent SÉGALAT's acquittal pronounced in first instance and sentenced him to 16 years in prison.
